“ My mom was my biggest support with a heart of gold. She was so loving and caring. She was a mother of four but a mother figure to many. Her smile lit up my world. I visited her often and we would stay up late, watching shows in Spanish and naked and afraid. We laughed so much together. Even though I have so many faults she supported me, comforted me, never judged me. She is the most incredible I've ever known and I'm blessed to be her daughter. I love you alway & forever mommy.

“ My greatest memory of my momma??? I have so many to choose from, it's never ending! I've been so blessed to have my mom as my best friend and the greatest guide throughout life. She was there for every life changing event in my life, big or small. From changing my diapers to watching me graduate high school. From getting married to watching all of my babies come into this world. From watching me go to college to witnessing me earn a college degree. She joined me with every laugh, every fear, every tear, and when I hurt, she hurt. I've depended on her since birth. Even on the days she was depending on me, I still depended on her because she made me laugh when I was stressed, she gave me advise when I was in doubt, and she thought me right from wrong. I can honestly say, I am who I am today because she loved me! I will forever be grateful that God blessed me with her for all the years she was here. I will miss her dearly and she deserves all the happiness in Heaven for she's earned it. I pray and look forward to seeing her again one sweet day! But until then, I'm so jealous of the angels that get to be with her now!

“ Minerves, my aunt/mama, and I made so many memories but the one that I will forever cherish was the adventure with her fur babies. On that particular day her shih tzu, Lady, bolted out of the front door. Minerves called her but she kept running. Minerves went after her even though she was having a hard time walking. She ended up in the back yard and Minerves and I were trying to catch her but Lady kept running. The back yard is thick green carpet grass where Minerves suddenly fell so she calls Junior, her Rottweiler, to help her up. She said Junior would help her up when she would fall but on that day, since I was with her, I tried to help her up and for some reason Junior though we were playing. He's such a big dog that he knocked me down too and he wouldn't let me up. Minerves and I were both on the grass laughing so loud it was hilarious we both couldn't get up because Junior thought we were playing with him. We weren't hurt except our stomachs from all the laughing we did that day. I will miss her so much. She will forever live in my heart. Love you always beautiful.

“ Aunt Minnie will truly be missed, there were so many memories shared with her but what I loved the most is that my mom Rosie, aunt Minnie, Margaret and I would get together at aunt Minnie's house to have lunch. She loved making us her Mexican style enchiladas with rice and for dessert her favorite coconut cake. We would talk and laugh for hours...love you lots aunt Minnie you will be in our hearts.
