“ oh my, I came across this by accident. I am in shock. Michael was a great positive influence in my early sobriety. He was truly a gentleman. Funny. Caring and giving of himself. Hope to see you on the other side Michael. Love and hugs. Janice Seastream

“ I first met Mike Frumess in 1974 when I was the information officer for Spring Branch School District. We hired Mike to oversee the marketing campaign for our largest bond campaign ever. Lots of push back from taxpayers, but Mike won them over with a campaign that was both clever and convincing. Several years later when I went to work in the financial services industry, I made sure Mike was our advertising man. I might add that he spoke often of you Gretchen.

“ Micheal was a considerate gentleman who enjoyed sharing with others his experience, strength and hope. A one-time atheist, Micheal became a believer and God and would often share his journey with others. He had a good ear for listening and people knew he cared when they shared their struggles with him. He was never much of a complainer and often found humor in the struggles of life.
