“ There is no soul on this earth that can fill the void left in your passing. There are many single memories that stand out, mom, but more than just a single event were the countless times you searched for me, you taught me, you cared for me, you disciplined me, and you loved me. You cared for everyone. All the time. No matter how tired. How sick. How painful. Anyone in your care was better for having known you and having been loved by you. The world is darker with you gone but heaven is so much brighter. I love you mamma. More than I could ever tell you. Thank you for making us who we are.
